

COMPUTERS

Almost every home, office or school, has a computer of some kind these days. Computers are a great advantage and a very useful tool for most people.

Computers are necessary at schools. They can help pupils to look for specific information about any topic; they help to revise vocabulary or grammar structures for exams and make subjects more interesting People save a lot of time using computers. Nowadays, you can book tickets for any place in advance thanks to Internet. You can buy anything you need: food, music, furniture, books... You can chat to your friends in a very easy way, while you are having a look at the newspaper on your screen. Thanks to the e-mail you can send videos, photos or any other files to any country of the world. You can even take it with you in your holidays!

Since the first computer was sold, they have changed a lot. Today, you can find computers of all prices, sizes and colours. Everyone can find one which suits them, but not everybody is able to use them properly.

Computers are a very important tool in our society and their use is constantly increasing. Everybody should take this into account, because computers are the future, and the future is already here.

Answer the following questions:

1. How can computers help you when you have to study?

2. Imagine that your best friend is living in England. How would you use the computer in this case?

3. Write true (T) or false (F).

All computers are very expensive.

The use of computers is rising each year.

Computers have not changed very much.

You can buy cinema tickets with your computer.

4. In the text it says: "You can even take it with you in your holidays! ". What does that mean?

5. Write about different things you do with your computer during the week.

-
-
-
-
-